Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., November 11, 1886.

Sir:-

From your Cashier's daily statement of the 9th instant, it appears that there are no less than $200,000 in minor coin orders unpaid, and in view of this fact and in order to meet in a measure the demand for these coins, coming as it does from all sections of the country, I have to suggest that on large orders for such coins you should supply only 50 %, and either return to the party giving the order a check for the balance of their remittances, or if they prefer to allow the amount to remain, and enter it on your books as a new order to be filled in its turn. Hereafter you will please have your cashier enter on his daily statement the amount of 1¢ bronze and 5¢ pieces respectively received from the coiner.

I would be glad to receive from you any suggestion by which the output of minor coins can be increased. I would also thank you to report the amount of unpaid orders for 5¢ and 1¢ pieces respectively. If practicable, would be glad to have this information hereafter entered daily on the Cashier's statement.

Very respectfully,

Director of the Mint.
